DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kroll et al, US Patent 6,342,035 in view of Lindemann et al. Kroll et al disclose a middle ear implanted hearing aid comprising input transducer 210, electronics unit 205, coil 300 (external transmitter), and permanent magnet 305 which is attached to staples 50 (which is part of the middle ear). The electronics unit 205 has an input port, converter system, and an output port. Kroll et al does not disclose that the input port receives an input signal reflecting a reference acoustical output of an audiometer. Lindemann discloses a hearing aid with in situ testing capability comprising input port 110 and receiver 118. Column 4 lines 8-42 disclose that an external test generator (such as an audiometer) can be coupled to the input port 110 to supply diagnostic test signals to the hearing aid receiver 118. Thus, Lindemann teaches having an input port receiving a reference acoustical output of an audiometer. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to supply diagnostic signals in the Kroll apparatus from an audiometer, as taught by Lindemann, for the purpose of providing standardized audiological signals to the hearing aid user. Claims 1, 3-7 and 13-15 are met. As to claim 2, the modified Kroll apparatus would couple the audiometer signals to the electronics unit 205 which one of ordinary skill in the art would have known necessitated the use of the headphone output module of the audiometer for supply the audiometric signals to the hearing aid. Regarding claims 8 and 9, it was obvious to receive feedback from a patient during an audiological examination and determining operating parameters for a hearing aid. Per claims 10-12, the method claimed is accomplished by the modified Kroll et al apparatus.

Claims 16 and 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Taenzer in view of Kroll et al. Taenzer discloses an apparatus for monitoring magnetic hearing aids comprising the external portion of the hearing aid 18, hearing aid analyzer 90, magnetic-to-acoustic converter 100 (reference receiver system and signal processor), and an inherent output port to the hearing aid. Taenzer does not disclose that the hearing aid is a middle ear implantable hearing aid. However, such hearing aids were well known at the time of invention, as evidenced by Kroll et al. Middle ear implantable hearing aids also used magnetic coupling to permanent magnets. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to utilize the test box taught by Taenzer for the hearing aid in Kroll et al for the purpose of testing an magnetically based hearing aid.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 22 is allowed.

Claims 17 and 21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
